JUST TEN MORE DAYS OF THE

Money-Saving Opportunities

At the Sacrifice Sale of the Pemberton, Price & Co stock

The public has most generously responded to the announcements made and has shown in substantial manner their appreciation of the bargain offerings of the past week. For the week beginning on Monday we shall continue the special values that have proved so interesting during the past few days.

No house is likely to even attempt to duplicate the values of this sale.

Look at these money savers:

Great Clean-Up Sale at Give-Away Prices

We want to close out the CLOAK stock. Former prices are not considered. Here are many nice garments carried over that at these prices must be a good investment:

2' Children's Short Jackets, size 6 years, colors tan and brown,

These goods are now on sale, and the former prices and reduced prices marked plainly on each garment.

No Sale is Likely to Be a Better Money-Saver than Our

One-Half Price Sale Of Lace Curtains. . .

Of course, many styles are closed out, but each style is a bargain, and the values that are left are just as good as any offered; but these goods cannot remain in stock very much longer, so we advise early purchases.

Second to the Lace Curtain Sale is That of Blankets and Comforts

The public is fully aware of the largely advanced condition of all wool and cotton fabrics but this entire stock is put on the market at a large discount from last season's prices, making the saving on these goods very considerable.

"MULTUM DILEXIT."

(" She Has Loved Much.")

By HARTLEY COLERIDGE.

"He Loved Much" is from the New Testament, St. Luke, chapter vii, verses 37 to 50, inclusive; "And behold a woman in the city, which was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at meat in the Pharisec's house, brought an alabaster box of olitiment and stood stat meat in the Pharisec's house, brought an alabaster box of olitiment and stood stat the feet behind Him, weeping, and began to wash His feet with tears and did wipe them with the halrs of her head, and kissed His feet and annointed them with the ointment.

Now when the Pharisee which had bidden Him saw it he spake within himself, saying. This man, if He were a prophet, would have known who and what manner of woman this is that toucheth Him; for she is a sinner.

Jesus then told the parable of the creditor and the two debtors, following it up with a recital of the simil woman's attentions to Him, and added. 'Wherefore, I say unto thee her sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she loved much.'

Another selection from this writer, with his biographical sketch, has already been printed in this series.

Of sin oppressed her heart; for all the blame; And the poor malice of the worldly shame, To her was past, extinct, and out of date: Only the sin remained,-the leprous state; She would be melted by the heat of love, By fires far fiercer than are blown to prove And purge the silver ore adulterate. She sat and wept, and with her untressed hair Still wiped the feet she was so blessed to touch; And He wiped off the soiling of despair From her sweet soul, because she loved so much. I am a sinner, full of doubts and fears; Make me a humble thing of love and tears.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, October 11, 1803. One is published each day.
